We're veterans in caring for veterans

Veterans served our country, and they deserve care that understands and values their service. It's no coincidence that so many veterans trust Kaiser Permanente with their health. We're committed to a healthy future for them and their families—and we're uniquely equipped to make that a reality.

Veteran doctors and specialists

Thousands of our providers served in the armed forces and truly value the opportunity to serve their military family. They receive special training to identify and treat conditions related to military service, including musculoskeletal conditions, neurological conditions, and conditions resulting from toxic or general radiation exposure. Our doctors also share digital access to patients' medical records to better coordinate their care, ensuring the best health outcomes for veterans.

Total health support

Prolonged exposure to stress takes a physical and mental toll on veterans and their families. That's why our doctors practice in 60+ specialties to support their total health—body and mind. This includes mental health support with personal and group therapy, wellness resources like wellness coaching and self-care apps, and more—all at no additional cost.

Familiar care delivery

Veterans have a choice with Kaiser Permanente that feels familiar—like coming home. Our integrated care system operates much like the military, where everything works together to support the patient—including doctors, specialists, pharmacists, and facility staff.

Just like Military Treatment Facilities (MTFs), our medical centers across the region offer many services under one roof. Patients can see their doctor, fill prescriptions, get lab tests, and more in one visit.

Seamless VA integration

Veterans keep full access to their VA benefits on top of our best in class care, giving them and their families the freedom to get care on their terms. We are proud to be one of the earliest signatories of the VA Interoperability Pledge, which allows us to securely exchange information with the VA to provide seamless care. Our Mid-Atlantic doctors will even help veterans submit Nexus letters for disability care so they get the support they deserve.

Like veterans, we take our mission seriously

Kaiser Permanente has been caring for veterans since World War II, when we partnered with the Veterans Administration to provide care to hundreds of veterans with tuberculosis. In a speech at the closing of the war, Henry J. Kaiser expressed his belief that every veteran deserves to return home to a stable job and peace of mind, and proposed several housing projects that provided immediate employment for thousands.

Since then, we've actively hired veterans in all capacities to support programs like MEDIHC: Military Experience Directed Into Health Careers, because we recognize the value of veterans during and after their service. Today, nearly 600 of our Mid-Atlantic providers are veterans.

In 2025, our efforts have once again earned us gold status as a Military Friendly Employer—the ninth year in a row that we've held this title. For more information, visit militaryfriendly.com.
